

Biography

Bozena Jankowska, Global Head of Sustainability

Bozena is the Global Head of Sustainability Research at RCM. She is based in London and is responsible for running sustainability research which involves on-going evolution of the RCM sustainable research and investment philosophy, strategy and process at a global level, as well as client relationship management. Bozena is also responsible for spearheading RCM's work as a thought leader in Sustainability Research within the industry and responsible for the establishment and management of partnerships within other entities of Allianz as well as external research providers such as universities and think-tanks. From 2006 to 2010, Bozena was also responsible for the design, launch and management of the Global EcoTrends Fund, a clean-technology themed strategy which evolved into a successful global franchise representing over a billion Euro in assets. Before joining RCM in 2000, Bozena worked for the construction firm, John Laing Plc as their Business and Environment Adviser developing and implementing corporate sustainability policy and strategy. She graduated from the University of Sussex with a BSc (Hons) in Environmental Science and gained an MSc in Environmental Technology with Distinction, from Imperial College of Science, Technology and Medicine, specialising in Business and Environment. Bozena obtained her Investment Management Certificate in July 2001.

